

Established in 1938, The Association of Consulting Engineers of Ireland (ACEI) is a voluntary, self-regulatory professional body representing the business and professional interests of firms and individuals engaged in Consulting Engineering in the built environment sector. Its mission is 'to support a vibrant consulting engineering community, within which member firms can grow successful businesses that deliver sustainable engineering solutions for the benefit of humankind'. As the voice of the Consulting Engineering profession, the ACEI assists in resolving issues for clients and engineering consultants alike and contributes to public policy through involvement in working groups, Government Committees and the development of policy papers and model conditions of engagement.

ACEI wishes to appoint a new Secretary General who will lead the organisation through its next phase of development and maintain its position as a progressive and highly effective representative body for the Consulting Engineering profession in Ireland. Reporting to the Executive Board, the Secretary General will support ACEI in achieving its strategic objectives:

- Represent the consulting engineering sector in Ireland nationally and internationally
- Enhance the image and reputation of consulting engineering firms with strategic communications
- Act as the authority on issues relating to business best practice for Consulting Engineers
- Promote the development of a viable consulting engineering sector
- Ensure the future of ACEI by increasing membership numbers and member services
- Develop and deliver quality CPD programmes and other revenue generating activities
- Promote a commitment to sustainable development
- Ensure an effective, responsive corporate governance structure

The ideal candidate will possess outstanding strategic leadership, financial management, operational and communication skills, and the ability to drive further growth and development throughout the association. The new appointee will have the credibility and gravitas to build and nurture strategic relationships both internally and externally and the 'customer service' approach to ensure all ACEI events, services and operations continue to meet the highest standards required for its members.

This is an exciting leadership opportunity for an appropriately qualified candidate to contribute to the development of ACEI and advance the activities of the Consulting Engineering community in Ireland.
